Grade: 5th

Definition of Topic:
The native people of New Zealand, called the Maori, are world famous for their unique culture of tattooing. Beginning centuries ago, the Maori people created designs and carved them into their faces to create extraordinarily unique tattoos called moko. The moko is very personal and the specific placement of designs on the face indicated the rank, genealogy, and even the occupation of the wearer. The Maori could look at a moko and read the history of a person’s achievements and status in their tribe, like a visual resume. The moko was also used to intimidate the enemy in battle and identify the dead. The Maori had the custom of removing and preserving the heads of warriors after death. It was a great honor to a person to have one’s head preserved, and heads became important family heirlooms. In more modern times, the practice of ta moko has diminished. However, the artistic process of moko is now being rediscovered by young Maori who want to revive their heritage and traditions.

Terminology
Maori: a unique Polynesian ethnic group native to New Zealand
Moko: Maori tattoo
Ta Moko: the traditional tattooing process
Tapu: sacred
Noa: not sacred

Maori Moko Patterns & Meaning
Ngakaipikirau (rank): The center forehead area
Ngunga (position): Around the brows
Uirere (hapu rank): The eyes and nose area
Uma (first or second marriage): The temples
Raurau (signature): The area under the nose
Taiohou (occupation): The cheek area
Wairua (mana): The chin
Taitoto (birth status): The jaw

Objectives
Art Production: Students will design an original face tattoo in the style of the Polynesian people, focusing on symmetry and balance.
Art History: Students will derive their Maori face tattoo designs from the elements of the Polynesian people from New Zealand

Procedures:
Information about the native people of New Zealand, called the Maori, will be presented to the students. We will discuss the meaning of the placement for the tattoos (moko) and how the placement is very personal to that individual.

1. The teacher will show the students how to draw a self portrait with the correct proportions.
2. The teacher will then show the students the example showing that the tattoo designs will be symmetrical.
3. The students’ will use mirrors to draw a self portrait in pencil.
4. The students’ will use designs representing the Maori tattoos to create their face. They will draw out their designs using pencil.

Techniques to demonstrate:
- Draw ideas in pencil first, then use a marker
- How to apply the concepts of symmetry and balance

Topics to discuss while working:
- Pay close attention to symmetry and balance
- Make use of the entire space given on the templates
- Relating to students a traditional Maori of Ta Moko
- Relating to students the authentic traditional process of Ta Moko.

Topics to discuss when work is complete:
- What similarities do you see between your design and the traditional Maori tattoo designs.
- Based on what you know about our culture and the information presented on Maori tattoos, how can you compare/contrast the uses of body adornment?
- The Maori use the moko to express their personal identity. How do you express who you are in similar ways?
- Does this assignment change what you may consider to be art?

Materials:
- Mirrors, pencils, erasers, white paper, black markers

New York State Standards within the lesson:

Standard 1: Creating, Performing and Participating in the Arts:
Students will actively engage in the processes that constitute creation and performance in the arts and participate in various roles in the arts.

Standard 2: Knowing and Using Arts Materials and Resources:
Students will be knowledgeable about and make use of the materials and resources available for participation in the arts in various roles.

Standard 3: Responding to and Analyzing Works of Art:
Students will respond critically to a variety of works in the arts, connecting the individual work to other works and to other aspects of human endeavor and thought.

Standard 4: Understanding the Cultural Dimensions and Contributions of the Arts:
Students will develop an understanding of the personal and cultural forces that shape artistic communication and how the arts in turn shape the diverse cultures of past and present society.
Maori Face Tattoo

Name: ________________________

1.) What similarities do you see between your design and the traditional Maori tattoo designs?
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________

2.) Based on what you know about our culture and the information presented on Maori tattoos, how can you compare/contrast the uses of body decorations?
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________

3.) The Maori use the moko to express their personal identity. How do you express who you are in similar ways?
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________

4.) How does this assignment change what you may consider to be art?
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
Maori Tattoo Rubric

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Goals</th>
<th>Projects Outcomes Criteria</th>
<th>4</th>
<th>3</th>
<th>2</th>
<th>1</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Basic Skills</td>
<td>Follows Directions, Requirements</td>
<td>Followed all directions and completed all requirements</td>
<td>Followed most of the directions and completed most of the requirements</td>
<td>Followed some of the directions and completed some requirements</td>
<td>Did not follow directions or complete requirements / Does not exhibit skills</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Craftsmanship</td>
<td>Exceptional skill with drawing facial proportions, design, and symmetry</td>
<td>Good skills with drawing facial proportions, design, and symmetry</td>
<td>Some skills with drawing facial proportions, design, and symmetry</td>
<td>Does not exhibit skills</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Originality Creativity</td>
<td>Unique designs used</td>
<td>Original designs</td>
<td>Seldom original work possibly copied</td>
<td>Does not exhibit original ideas</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Design Principles / Elements</td>
<td>Students used the correct principles and elements: design, shape, color, pattern, symmetry</td>
<td>Students used good of the correct principles and elements: design, shape, color, pattern, symmetry</td>
<td>Students used some of the correct principles and elements: design, shape, color, pattern, symmetry</td>
<td>Does not exhibit use of art principles or elements</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>